DAYTON. (Page 528.) The statement that Ralph Dayton m Alice Wilton in Ashford, Kent, was found in The Ancestors of Samuel Baker, by Frank Baker, Chicago, 1914, p. 3. This is an error. The Founding of New England, by Ernest Flagg, Hartford, 1926, p. 343, showed that Daniel Tritton m 14 Apr 1607 Alice Goldhatch, and that the widow Alice Tritton m 16 June 1616 Ralph Drayton [Dayton]. A Dayton Genealogy, by Edson C. Dayton, 1931, p. 2, gives the marriage as occurring 16 June 1617, together with a certified copy of the Dayton baptisms from the Ashford Registers, which shows that there was a fourth child, Ellen, bapt. 3 Dec. 1626. This book contains interesting data concerning the wives of Ralph's son Samuel, and disputes the existence of a wife Wilhelmina. There is prob. no truth in the tradition of an Indian wife, which came to us from family sources through the medium of the late Sheldon B. Thorpe of North Haven.

MORRIS. (Page 1214.) FAM. 6, 2. The wife of Thomas was called Ruth in the birth record of their children (entered in Kent Land Records, vol. 1, Index, p. 3). Doubtless she was da. Thomas & Phebe Beeman, as the will of Thomas Beeman of Kent, 22 Sep 1750, proved 4 May 1751, named da. Ruth Morris. FAM. 6, 2, v. The name of the husband of Elizabeth, communicated to us by a correspondent in New Milford, was misread. He was Caleb Main. Caleb & Elizabeth (Morris) Main had a s. Roswell b at Kent 11 Dec 1771; and Caleb Main's children, Jonathan, Morris, Russel, & Phebe, were bp at Kent, Mar 1793. [Information furnished by Miss Helen D. Love, South Kent.]

MOSS. (Page 1223.) FAM. 6, 6. Isaiah was believed to have d before 1776 on the basis of a deed given that year by some of his children. Mrs. Josiah A. Van Orsdel, Registrar General, N. S. D. A. R., informs us that Isaiah Morse was one of those who took the oath of fidelity at Wallingford, 25 June 1778; unless this was his son Isaiah, he was living 1778. His third child, Miriam, m 21 May 1772 WV—Amasa Lewis. His ninth child, Isaiah, res. Patterson, Dutchess County, N. Y. [not N. J. as we followed the Morse Genealogy in stating]; Mrs. Van Orsdel quotes pension records to the effect that in 1818 this Isaiah Jr. had wife Urania, æ. 40, and das. Mary, æ. 11, & Phebe, æ. 9.

NORTHROP. (Page 1319.) Joel and Mabel Sarah (Bird) had a seventh child, Rodolphus Edward, b 2 Nov 1797 at Bd, d 1860 at NH; m (1) 28 May 1828 Harriet P. Wells, who d 23 Mar 1831; m (2) 4 Apr 1832 Martha Jane Brown, b 3 Oct 1812, d 16 June 1882.

PARDEE. (Page 1355.) FAM. 9, 1, vii. For Seatacook, read Seatacooke, a phonetic spelling of Schaghticoke.

PARKER. (Page 1374.) FAM. 6, 10. The parentage of Joseph's wife is incorrectly stated. She was da. Jonathan & Jemima (Hotchkiss) Andrews, b 14 June 1734 WV.

Y., Royal Oak, Mich., 1835; m (1) Sarah Tuttle; m (2) Elizabeth Perry. [For children, see Mich. Military Records, by Sue Imogene Silliman, 1920.]

PECK. (Page 1390.) FAM. 10, 3, i. The death dates of Benjamin and his wife are incorrect. His gravestone in the old cemetery at Franklin reads: To the Memory of Mr. Benjamin Peck, the loving consort of Mrs. Mary and Mrs. Phebe Peck who died 30 May 1742 in the 76th year of his age. Norwich Vital Rec. give his death as 31 May 1742, and that of his wife Mary as 3 Mar 1728; her gravestone says 16 Mar. Benjamin m (2) 14 May 1729 Franklin C—Phebe Hatch. [Contributed by E. Stanley Welles, Esq., Newington, Conn.]

PERKINS. (Page 1432.) FAM. 12. Mr. Horace Dickerman of New Haven has kindly supplied additional data on this family, obtained from a descendant. According to the traditional statement, John Perkins was son of an earlier John by "a Welch woman named Chamberlain," lived in West Woods, Hamden, m [Jerusha Turner] and had children [matter in brackets is added by the editor]:

- 1 EUNICE, [b 25 June 1777 NHV, d May 1849 æ. 73 HV].

ROYCE. (Page 1554.) FAM. 3, 6. Nehemiah m. (2) 2 Oct 1787 Abigail Blackleach of Huntington; she m (2) — Jones. [Contributed by Miss Helen E. Royce, Hartford, Conn.]

RUSSELL. (Page 1579.) FAM. 13, 5, vii. Robert in 1810 gave a deed to Woodbridge land, calling himself in the deed of some illegible place in Cortland County, N. Y. I read this place as "Namee," but think Homer was intended.

SPERRY. (Page 1682.) FAM. 11, 1, viii. Betty m 6 Oct 1788 WdC—Joab Way (marriage accidentally omitted). Her sister Mary (vi) m James Sperry (FAM. 7, 2, iv).

STEVENS. (Page 1702.) FAM. 3, 7. Shubael m Martha How, according to descendants of the family, who state that Shubael had a younger brother John who settled in Canada and m there. This was a loyalist family. [Contributed by Miss Ethel L. Scofield, New Haven, Conn.]

STREET. (Page 1711.) FAM. 4, 2. The wife of Titus was Amaryllis da. Reuben & Mary (Russell) Atwater. Evidently we followed the erroneous statement with regard to her mother found in the Street Genealogy, p. 47, without noting the error. [Corrected by James P. Maynard, Esq., Marquette, Mich.]

THOMPSON. (Page 1755.) Mrs. William H. Lewin, of New Britain, points out that Loudon County (see FAM. 7, 3, iii) is in Va., not Pa.; possibly Luzerne County was meant. The statement was taken from a printed source.

(Page 1766.) Miss Lulu I. M. Thompson of Fond du Lac, Wis., has sent us a record of the family of Jonathan and Margaret [Smith] Thompson, compiled from family sources, which adds considerably to the account which we put together fragmentarily from the public records. The family account knows nothing of the first three children; but as 1 Samuel and 3 Margaret were called children of Jonathan in the West Haven Mortality List, we do not doubt that they belonged in this family; 1 Samuel died in 1776, and his youngest brother, born presumably after his death, received the same name. The evidence is not positive for placing 2 Ebenezer in this family. The family record confirms Sarah, Esther, and Mary; and adds Amy, who m 20 Apr 1785 Ammi Hoadley; Bettie, who m — Pierce; Lydia, who m John Lewis and rem. to Delaware Co., Ohio, 1809; Jonathan, who rem. to Delaware Co., Ohio, 1809; and Samuel, who m Elizabeth Hull and d at Liberty, Delaware Co., Ohio, 30 Apr 1831, his widow dying in Jefferson Co., Wis., in 1869. The Hoadley Genealogy states that Amy, b 12 Sep 1763, d 9 Apr 1834, was da. George Thompson of Bethany; but we are unable to find any George Thompson of Bethany of proper date, and incline to accept the family statement of Miss Thompson that she was da. Jonathan of West Haven and Naugatuck. Miss Thompson gives also the son 6 Stephen, but states that he was connected with the Onondaga Salt Works in Central N. Y. and that he had a wife Amy L. ———. This we doubt, and believe that Jonathan's son Stephen was the man listed Census (NH) 1-1-2, who in deeds appears as resident at West Haven; for there was a Stephen (1791-1868) with wife Amy L. (1788-1874) buried at Naugatuck, perhaps a grandson of Jonathan and Margaret, who in early life may have lived in Central N. Y. The name of this man's wife corresponds with the family record, but his age makes it impossible to consider him a son of Jonathan. The children of Samuel and Elizabeth (Hull) Thompson were:

- 1 MARY H., b 9 Sep 1802 (at NH), d 1888 or 1889; m 1822 ——— Knapp of Delaware Co., Ohio.
- 2 CAROLINE E., b 16 Aug 1804 (at NH), d 1876 (Jefferson Co., Wis.); m 1822 John Blinn, of Delaware Co., Ohio.

BOOK REVIEWS

By GILBERT H. DOANE

This department is limited to a consideration of recent publications on the subject of American genealogy or colonial history. Books that may be of interest to our subscribers, especially those containing the genealogy of Connecticut families, are sometimes accorded a notice without request. Authors and publishers can make certain of securing a review by sending one copy of the book to the reviewer, Office of the Librarian, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb. Reviews are by the Review Editor unless otherwise initialed.

Edwards-May. Richard Edwards and his wife Catherine Pond May: their ancestors, lives and descendants. By Rev. Maurice Dwight Edwards, D.D. (e 1931). 206 pp. Obtainable from Rev. Maurice D. Edwards, 423 Laurel Avenue, St. Paul, Minn. $3.00.

This is a well made volume printed on Strathmore Wayside Text (glazed) paper, attractively bound in three-quarters dark brown cloth.

The Rev. Dr. Edwards, great-grandson of the well-known Jonathan Edwards, has written a type of genealogy rarely found in America, but rather common in England. He is quite justified in using this "narrative style" since he designed this volume purely as a family memorial and wrote it to preserve some of his memories for the descendants of his parents. The families from which he descends are all well-known, some of them indeed illustrious in the annals of this country, so it was not necessary for him to go into full detail about even his line of descent in each family. In each generation he has included only the child from whom he derives descent, but he has attempted to portray the character and community position of each ancestor. If he speaks with pride of the achievements of some of his ancestors, such as Jonathan Edwards, Thomas Hooker, and the "Apostle" John Eliot, he does so with the decorum of a fine and truly bred gentleman and refrains from florid over-statements and vain boastings. Dr. Edwards's style is pleasing and easy to read, so even to one of no connection with the families of which he writes the book proves interesting and worth reading. To anyone who proposes to publish a memorial of his ancestors this is an example of one type worth following. However, no references are given, a criticism which Dr. Edwards anticipates in his preface. The index is adequate.

Chapter One (pp. 11-60) is devoted to the ancestry of Richard Edwards, a grandson of Rev. Jonathan Edwards, the Divine.

This includes such families as the Pierrepont, Ogden, Hatfield, Woodbridge, Eliot, Merrick and Day. Chapter Two (pp. 61-89) comprises the ancestry of Catherine Pond May, wife of Richard Edwards, including the Bridge, Huntington and Avery families, as well as several Dutch families, which were carefully checked by Mr. Howard S. F. Randolph of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society. Chapter Three (pp. 90-132) is devoted to full and interesting biographical accounts of Richard Edwards and his wife. Chapter Four (pp. 133-206) records the activities of their descendants.

Arnold-Luckey. Arnold Luckey family ties: authorized history and genealogy complete, comprehensive in form and extensive in scope. Showing the exact connection and giving the complete line and lineage of Drusilla Arnold Ancestor and Descendants in perfect order from Alfred the Great, King of England, born 849, down to the last child of the family up to October, 1931. Written expressly by Leonard Wilson Arnold and Ethel Zwick Luckey. Published by the Rev. Leonard W. A. Luckey, Ph.D., D.D. New York City, New York, 1931. 168 pp. Obtainable from the Rev. Dr. L. W. A. Luckey, 43 West 84th St., New York City.

This is a nicely made book, printed on glazed paper, and suitably bound in black cloth.

It is unfortunate that the contents of the book are not compatible with either its format or its too suggestive title, which we have quoted in full as an ample warning to the curious! Except insofar as it contains the record (in none too comprehensible form) of the descendants of Drusilla (Arnold) Luckey (1820-1885), this volume is of no value to a genealogist. The "illustrious" descent of the Arnold family reads as though it had been copied from Browning. It may be correct. Most of the book is taken up with highly laudatory and florid descriptions of the glories of the family and with innumerable sentimental verses. The index is not a name index, which would have been useful, but merely a quasi-subject index, through which one learns that such valuable items as "Birthstones and their significance" can be found on page 162, and "Cornerstone laid July 4, 1872" on page 54!

Sandford. Robert Sandford and his wife Ann Adams Sandford with some of their descendants, 1615-1930. Also brief notes on several Allied Families including Alden, Brewster, Chilton, Stinson, Topping, Standish, White, Sumner, Rogers, and others. By Josephine Sandford Ware. Printed for private circulation by the Tuttle Company, Rutland, Vt. (1930?). 85 pp. Obtainable from Mrs. H. F. Ware, 337 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass. $3.75.

This is a very well printed book on good paper, bound in dark blue cloth and neatly lettered in gold.

Following the title and dedicatory pages are brief yet ample introductory and explanatory notes, after which three pages are devoted to a brief account of the origin of the name and an outline of the authentic history of Robert Sandford's known progenitors in England. Pages 11-78 comprise the history of Robert Sandford, the pioneer of Hartford, Conn., and his descendants. In the first five generations not all the male descendants of the name are traced, but beginning with the sixth generation the records given are very complete, and the family may be justly proud of this record of their relationships. Occasionally the text is interrupted by an outline pedigree of the ancestry of a wife or mother.

Mrs. Ware has followed the well-known "Register" system of numbering, and has generally cited her references, although occasionally the source of her information is not noted. An adequate and carefully made index occupies pages 78-85.

Wentworth. The Genealogy of Edward Norris Wentworth, Junior. Special project Submitted in Courses in Community Life and Advanced Biology at the University High School, University of Chicago, June 1928. 85 pp. Obtainable from Edward Norris Wentworth, Armour's Live Stock Bureau, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

This pamphlet is bound in attractive stiff paper covers, and contains two large charts tipped in.

Rarely does one find a fifteen year old boy who is both active and healthy and interested in genealogy. When one does, his historical interest, as well as his health, is to be cultivated. We congratulate young Mr. Wentworth on his fine beginning as a genealogist, and we hope he will continue his study of this fascinating field either as a vocation or as a hobby. In consideration of his age and the nature of his work as a high school project we cannot criticize this compilation for its lack of references, but we hope that he will learn their value as he grows older. The work is adequately indexed and as an example of industry puts many other volumes of ancestral compilations to shame.

McCutcheon. The McCutcheon (Cutcheon) family records. Allied families of McClary, Tripp, Brown and Critchett; also Mayflower line of Marie Ammie Warner (Mrs. Byron M. Cutcheon) through Warner, Cooper, Rockwell, Foote, Whitney, Treat, Canfield, Clark, Willoughby, Hotchkiss, Ives, Cook, Buell, Fitch to Governor Bradford. And Ancestry of Betsey Webster Carr (Mrs. Lewis M. Cutcheon) to George Carr, founder of Salisbury, Massachusetts, and to Aquilla Chase of Hampton, New Hampshire, through Carr, Webster, Stuart, Brewer, Hudson, Ford, Edwards, Morrill, Waldo, Cogswell, Morse, Perley, Chase. Compiled by Florence McCutcheon McKee (Mrs. S. W.), Grand Rapids, Mich., Commonwealth Printing Company, 1931. Obtainable from Mrs. S. W. McKee, 418 North Avenue, N. W., Grand Rapids, Mich. $5.00.

This volume, substantially bound in fabrikoid, is not printed in a distinctive manner, although the type is clear and easily readable. In fact, it is the sort of book-making usually produced by a commercial printer unaccustomed to handling genealogical books.

The first part of this volume (pages 3-127) deals with the descendants of Phaedris McCutcheon, who settled in New Hampshire in 1719. It is to be hoped that Mrs. McKee's record of the McCutcheons is more accurately compiled than that of some of the families represented in this book. She has cited deeds and pension records for the earlier generations of the McCutcheons: the later generations are apparently based on the personal knowledge of descendants. Unfortunately, Mrs. McKee's system of numbering is not standard and not immediately comprehensible, although a little study will quickly determine the arrangement. In fact, she has reverted to the old and no longer generally used system of carrying out the descendants of a given child to the present generation, before taking up the next child's record. For example, on page 37 we find the record of no. 65, who chances to be of the sixth generation, and immediately following is the record of no. 5, of the third generation. Fortunately for the future user of this genealogy there is an adequate index, which, in a measure, helps to clear the chaos of this arrangement.

Pages 130-316 deal with the allied families mentioned on the title-page and many others. Most of these records are frankly copied from genealogical books old and new, which is quite permissible in a book of this type, granted the compiler is meticulously careful to give references and refrain from citing notoriously inaccurate compilations. Unfortunately, the compiler is not always careful, and many lines are entirely undocumented and contain no references to the sources of her information. Some of these repeat age-old errors—an unavoidable pitfall for the mere copyist—and others make new errors which future copyists will undoubtedly repeat ad infinitum. Had Mrs. McKee consulted the New Haven Genealogical Magazine for her Ives-Cook-Hotchkiss-Clark connections she would have avoided such errors and mis-statements as this: (p. 222) "Ebenezer Clark, born Nov. 29, 1651. Died April 30, 1721. Married May 6, 1678, Sarah, daughter of James Peck of New Haven. She died May 20, 1696, and he married Elizabeth Royce, Dec. 22, 1696. Children of Ebenezer Clark and Elizabeth Royce: They had nine children, among them the second was Elizabeth, born Sept. 24, 1698. . .” Actually, Ebenezer Clark married Sarah ———,* whose surname is unknown, for his first wife, and for his second, Mrs. Elizabeth (Parker) Royce, daughter of John and Hannah (Bassett) Parker and widow of Josiah Royce. Moreover, Elizabeth was the first child of the second marriage, not the second, and was born Sept. 24, 1697, not 1698, as given.

On page 242, Mrs. McKee repeats the myth that George Carr of Salisbury, Massachusetts, came in the Mayflower. This has been denied by George Ernest Bowman, one of the great authorities on the Mayflower families (cf. The Mayflower Descendant, vol. 23, p. 76, where his article on “False and Faked Mayflower Claims” may be found). She quotes the notoriously unreliable New England families, edited by the late W. R. Cutter, as her authority.

Hence, aside from the original work on the McCutcheon, McKee (pages 284-86), Warner (pages 186-97), and one or two other families, this book holds very little that is of value to the serious genealogist.

Selden. Selden Ancestry: A Family History Giving the Ancestors and Descendants of George Shattuck Selden and his wife Elizabeth Wright Clark. By Sophia Selden Rogers, Elizabeth Selden Lane, and Edwin van Deusen Selden. Published by the last-named, Oil City, Penn., 1931. Octavo, 523 pp. Indexed, illustrated, pedigree charts. Order from Mrs. A. H. Lane, 4 Fitch Avenue, Auburn, N. Y. Price, $7.00; morocco binding, $10.00.

An unusual book in several respects, this family history is well bound, well illustrated, and printed on an excellent grade of paper. The price is extremely moderate for a book of this quality, and cannot cover even the printing costs, not to mention the work of research and compilation.

The first 232 pages contain a history of the descendants of Thomas Selden, who was baptized at Wadhurst, co. Sussex, England, 17 Mar. 1616/7, and came to America presumably before 1636, first appearing of record at Hartford, Conn., in 1639. His ancestry has been traced with apparent certainty to William Selkeden of Horton in Upper Beeding, born about 1485, died in 1549, and his probable connection shown with the Selkedens who were seated at Ecclesden from at least early in the thirteenth century. Upwards of thirteen hundred descendants of Thomas Selden have been traced, bringing most lines down to 1800 or beyond, and many of them to the present day. In the line of the

* The statement that Sarah was daughter of James Peck of New Haven originated in Davis's History of Wallingford. New Haven records are entirely silent as to existence of such a James, and Mr. Clarence D. Smith, who spent years collecting material for a Peck genealogy, was unable to place Sarah in the Peck family at all. The History of Wallingford is so poor an authority that this Peck statement merits no consideration.—D. L. J. compilers, full copies of original documents are printed, and the authorities are referred to for the other lines. The arrangement of material is simple and easily comprehensible.

About 150 pages are devoted to other ancestral lines, and the more unusual lines have been selected for special attention. Descended paternally from New England stock of English origin, and maternally from Pennsylvania-Irish families, the most fascinating lines come through the two paternal great-grandmothers. One of these descended from Philippe Hubert [Philip Hubbard] of Kittery, Maine, whose ancestry has been traced in the Island of Jersey for six generations to Jean Hubert, born about 1450.

The other great-grandmother was daughter of General Alexandre de Vincent de Mazade (1735-1808), Governor-General of the Island of St. Thomas, and it is through this connection that the most remarkable ancestry can be traced. Himself the scion of a noble French seigneurial house, his wife was Marie Thérèse Sophie de Chappotin, and her mother was Marie Françoise de Santo Domingo. The latter descended from a noble Castilian house. One of her ancestors, Don Pedro de Santo Domingo, distinguished himself in the wars against the Moors under Ferdinand and Isabella. The house became domiciled in France, and François de Santo Domingo married Elizabeth de la Presse (or Presa, to use the Spanish form). She was sister of Juan de la Presa, Regidor [Governor] perpetual of the City of Lima, Peru, an office afterwards held by one of her sons. Apparently her family goes back to Domingo de la Presa who was associated with Pizarro in Peru, was first Secretary of the City of Lima in 1536, and was elected Alcalde and Regidor in 1538. The founders of Jamestown and Plymouth were late comers in comparison with the founders of modern Peru under Pizarro, and few if any families of European extraction now living in the United States can claim a more ancient ancestral connection with the western hemisphere.

If space permitted, we should like to cite further details from this interesting history. The long appendix (of 68 pages) sets forth the full documentary evidence for the English ancestry of the Selden family and the European ancestry of the Santo Domingos. The index is entirely adequate, but it is to be noted that the French surnames (as Chappotin and Valois) will all be found indexed under 'de' (as de Chappotin and de Valois). They would not be indexed under the preposition in a French peerage or genealogical book.

This volume will be welcomed by all descendants of Thomas Selden, as there has not been until now a history of that family. It has been carefully compiled and contains the results of an immense amount of research; and the compilers are to be congratulated for a remarkable achievement.

Bullard. Bullard Family Coat of Arms. Copies for sale by E. J. Bullard, 2111 David Stott Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Price: $2.00 each; six copies, $10.00.

This is a handsomely executed coat of arms in colors, 8 x 10, suitable for framing. It is from a painting by Mr. John Loos of New York City, an artist of repute. The source of the arms is stated in print on the reverse, where it is also frankly stated that the exact descent of the American family from the European family to whom the arms pertain has not been traced. Descendants of the American family may therefore exercise their own judgment or pleasure as to whether they care to assume these arms. If they do, they can obtain no more carefully executed or beautifully printed copy of the arms than is here offered. The price is moderate for a colored print of this character, and undoubtedly the arms will be of interest to all of the Bullard name.

Lake. The Lake Family of Derby, Conn., and Greene Co., N. Y. Compiled during the period 1921-1931 by Helen (Nellie) Lake Gibson and James Stewart Gibson of Montclair, N. J. Mimeographed, 22 pp. Not for sale; address the compilers if interested.

A very full genealogical account is given of the descendants of David Lake (1770-1856) and Sarah Vorce (1781-1857) of Derby, Conn., and Windham, N. Y. David was great-grandson of Thomas Lake, the first of the name who settled at Stratford, Conn. The descents of David and Sarah are set forth from Thomas Lake, Henry Tomlinson, Robert Walker, and Moses Wheeler. The rest of the monograph is devoted to a partial Lake genealogy in the line of David. The material is well arranged, covering eight generations. The lack of an index is not felt to the extent it would be in a larger brochure.

Every publication of this type helps to preserve family records for the benefit of future generations. All descendants of this branch of the Lake family can claim a Revolutionary ancestor in Elnathan Lake. The earlier generations could be further elucidated by research in record sources.

The Handbook of American Genealogy. Edited by Frederick Adams Virkus, F.I.A.G. Executive Director, The Institute of American Genealogy; Editor-in-chief, The Magazine of American Genealogy, The Compendium of American Genealogy, and the Lineage Record Book. Member The British Record Society (London), Deutscher Roland, Verein für deutschvolkische Sippenkunde (Berlin), Zentralstelle für Deutsche Personen und Familiengeschichte (Leipzig), Oesterreichische [sic] Gesellschaft Adler für Familien und Wappen Kunde (Vienna), Het Genealogisch-Heraldisch Genootschap "de Nederlandsche Leeuw" (The Hague), De la Societe Suisse d'Heraldique (Lausanne), Istituto

Araldico Romano (Rome), Genealogiska Samfundet i Finland (Helsingfors), Dansk Genealogisk Institut (Copenhagen), Real Sociedad Hispano-Americana de Genealogia y Heraldica (Mexico City), American Eugenics Society, numerous American Genealogical and Historical societies. Volume I. 1932. Pub. by The Institute of American Genealogy, Chicago, Ill. 382 pp.

The Handbook issued by the Institute, serviceably bound, is the most valuable publication which that organization has yet published. In some respects, it will be very useful to the genealogical public. The chief value of the book, in our estimation, is to be found in the sections called "Genealogies in Course of Compilation" and "Who's Who in Genealogy." The former section lists surnames of families in which various persons are interested, with direct reference to the names of these persons in the latter section, where their specific wants and offerings may be seen. It will thus be possible for one who is interested in the genealogy of a certain family to ascertain the addresses of others who are interested in the same family. In providing this service, the Institute has taken a stride towards fulfilling its self-advertised function of "The National Clearing House for Genealogical Information."

Since it is announced that this Handbook will be issued annually, suggestions and even a little adverse criticism will doubtless be welcomed by the editor, and if they are judicious, they will help towards improving the next edition. The title of the section, "Genealogies in Course of Preparation," is a misnomer. While it includes references to genealogies in course of preparation, a large majority of the references are to persons who desire information regarding these families or who have information to offer (freely, or in exchange, or for pay) on certain branches of these families. For example: the present writer was recently engaged to edit for publication a family history which was chiefly compiled by a gentleman who did not live to attend to the final preparation and publication of his work. It embodies the labors of years on his part, and is one of the most accurate and comprehensive works of the kind ever compiled. Naturally, we turned to this family name in the section, "Genealogies in Course of Compilation," and were surprised to find six references.

One of these was to a person who aided and collaborated with the original compiler of the complete genealogy, and who does possess a large amount of data. Two references were to persons with whom we have corresponded; they possess some knowledge of one or two branches, but their knowledge, in comparison with the 50,000 names enrolled by the deceased compiler, must be described as meagre. The other three references were to persons who desired information.

The compilation containing the complete family history would not be found by one who depended on the Handbook for information, since it contains no reference to the genealogy which is actually in course of compilation; and of the six references given, only one is to a person who possesses extensive data on the family. After experimenting with other surnames listed in the Handbook, we find that this example is a typical one, and that the title of the section, "Genealogies in Course of Compilation" is decidedly misleading. That the title should be broader in its scope, we believe is self-evident. "Information Offered and Sought," or "Genealogical Wants and Offerings," would be less misleading titles.

The immense collections of family data in the possession of various historical societies throughout the country are of course not included in the first edition of the Handbook. We hope that they may be included in later editions, for very often the most valuable manuscript data were collected years ago, from family records and from the memory of people long dead, and such information could not be duplicated by the most intensive research to-day. It is our impression that the collections of manuscript data in possession of historical societies outweigh in value and volume, the manuscript data still in private hands. To index it, by surnames and perhaps also geographically, would be one of the greatest services that could be performed in behalf of the genealogical public.

Other sections of the Handbook impress us much less favorably than those already described. The introductory "First Steps in Genealogical Research" is so sketchy as to have little value, and it might better be amplified or omitted entirely. With commendable self-complacency, the first two authorities listed by Mr. Virkus as "General Reference Sources" are his own Compendium of American Genealogy and Magazine of American Genealogy, which many discriminating genealogists would not accord quite so high a place. For general usefulness, they cannot be classed with Munsell's Index, or the First Census, to which he accords fourth and fifth places; and for meticulous accuracy, they can hardly be classed with Hotten's Original Lists. It is not fair to the inexperienced genealogist, in a list of the ten most important general reference sources, to give first place to his own two publications, and to include American Ancestry and Colonial Families of the United States, while omitting more important works. Without intending in any way to disparage the usefulness in their own sphere of any of the publications mentioned, this list of ten general sources exhibits a woeful lack of appreciation of genealogical values.

When we come to Colony Reference Sources, it is surprising to find no mention of Plymouth or New Haven Colonies, though apparently it was the intention of the editor to include them in Massachusetts and Connecticut respectively. Nevertheless, we can find no mention of The Mayflower Descendant, with its large amount of dependable data, under Massachusetts, nor of the New Haven Colony Records under Connecticut. The failure to mention our own New Haven Genealogical Magazine was to be expected; but we do fail to understand the omission of Mrs. Ljungsted's valuable periodical containing court records from the southern states. We can only repeat, that this section requires elaboration or deletion.

The Geographical Register would be extremely useful if one could feel sure that only competent genealogists were listed. Apparently it was the editor's intention to give the address of a genealogist for every county in the country, and several for a county if possible. To our positive knowledge, one lady received an invitation to be entered as a genealogist for her locality, who has had no experience in genealogical work and has never received a fee for research; she ignored the invitation, but would all be equally scrupulous? The librarian of an historical society is listed with the letter 'd' which means that she is on the Institute's list of genealogists, yet she assures us that she has never replied to a single letter or circular from the Institute. Naturally, one must expect some mistakes in a work so extensive as the Geographical Register. There are times when it is useful to know that someone in some distant locality is at least interested in genealogy and willing to undertake research; and those who desire to obtain research in that locality will have to "take a chance" on the degree of competence they will encounter.

May we suggest in closing that it might be well, in preparing the next edition, for Mr. Virkus to proof-read more carefully the names of the foreign societies of which he is a member, and to instruct his printers to purchase a supply of accents and umlauts?

FAREWELL

In bringing to a close this ten years' labor, the compiler of the Families of Ancient New Haven cannot refrain from expressing his satisfaction that this "labor of Hercules" has been concluded, and his gratification that most of the original subscribers have loyally stood by the undertaking until the end.

There remain in our hands about twenty-five complete sets and many additional copies of some issues. Gradually, these will be sold, and the small size of the edition guarantees that the edition will eventually be sold out. We have started an Index Fund in the First National Bank and Trust Company of New Haven, and are depositing therein 25% of the gross receipts from the sale of sets and back issues. Most of the contributors to the long since exhausted endowment have notified us that they desire to have the money used in this way rather than to receive a refund; but if any of those not heard from will write and instruct us that they prefer a refund, they will receive the money as soon as it is available. After January 1, 1933, we shall feel free to turn over to Miss Helen D. Love, compiler of the index, all of the funds that have then accumulated, together with whatever may thereafter be added, until the full amount of cash originally received as endowment has been replaced and utilized towards the publication of the index. The index is nearly completed, and will probably be ready for publication before the end of the year.

We have observed that some who undertake a genealogical compilation spend a few months on it and rush into print with an ill-digested assortment of data; while others are so smitten with the "mania for perfection" that they postpone publication until it is too late and their valuable collections are never made available to others by publication. We have tried to pursue a middle course, and to wait long enough but not too long. We realize, more than anyone, the imperfections of the finished work; but it has been a labor of love, and, with all its imperfections, we are proud of it,—of the courage it took to begin so gigantic a task, and of the perseverance it required to complete it.

With gratitude for the patience, the encouragement, and the understanding sympathy which the subscribers have manifested from beginning to end, we thankfully write "Finis."

THE EDITOR.
